The effect of beta-blocker therapy on exercise-induced ST segment depression is controversial. We used nadolol, a beta1-selective blocker, in 50 patients with chest pain but no ECG evidence of ischaemia and no evidence of coronary artery disease at coronary angiography, in whom the effort had to be terminated due to symptoms. Fifty-five percent of the patients had single-vessel disease, 45% double-vessel disease and 10% triple-vessel disease. Exercise-induced ST depression was observed in 27% of patients, and it was more frequent among patients with double- or triple-vessel disease (P A Leavenworth man was arrested Friday afternoon after authorities found crack cocaine in the car in which he was traveling and a loaded gun in his possession.
