I wanted to mention the work we are doing on the library board at the moment. We want to create a space where we get to share ideas, we want to share our experiences and services here. Presently, we have meetings twice a year. Once in the spring and once in the fall. We have teams that work on the boards. Currently there are four teams: Business, Finance and Administration, Education and Public Works. I'd like to talk about one of the successes. Our Business team is working on the possibility of opening a small business co-op to provide services to underserved areas in the community. We have had several meetings on this project. They have secured some space and I know they are working on opening up a space. We are also interested in connecting here. What projects do you have going on in your community? What would you like to see in our community? I think we can provide some services that we are good at and we have a bit of experience. We are good at getting things going. It would be nice if we could share that experience with other community members, it would be good to have that different perspective. I have been listening to the community. It's been very useful. I want to hear about your experiences with this project. Gavin Tafoya: Thank you. Linda Douglas: Thank you for sharing that, Gavin. Audience: Thank you. Linda Douglas: We have one more name to mention. The first is Nikko. Nikko grew up on a farm. As did I. We both have the same school teacher and the same social worker. Nikko has been on the board for six years, seven years now. I think it's been a real success. As we are talking about social services we are reminded of Martin Luther King. He said that you do not judge a man by the color of his skin but by the content of his character. I thought of that and how the work we are doing is in line with his philosophy. Gavin Tafoya: Nice. Linda Douglas: Yes, we are on d0c515b9f4
